OFCCP Posts New Section 503 FAQs

Department of Labor responds to new questions from contractor community

In an effort to provide on-going guidance to businesses with federal contracts and sub-contracts, the Department of Labor's Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs on June 20, 2014 updated its Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) in response to inquiries received from federal contractors. New information includes things like: whether or not a contractor must hire an individual with a disability who is not the best qualified but meets minimum job requirements; and whether or not a contractor fulfill's its obligation to invite current employees to disclose a disability by having them sign into an employee portal on the corporate intranet. Check out the full list of new FAQs online here.

Diversity is Mission-Critical at the CIA

The Central Intelligence Agency collaborates with Think Beyond the Label to promote employment opportunities for qualified people with disabilities. Since October 2013, Think Beyond the Label has helped identify the CIA as a diversity employer of choice, seeking candidates with the knowledge, skills and abilities to accomplish the Agency's mission to keep the nation safe. The CIA offers work-life balance initiatives, a supportive environment and the opportunity for a rewarding career. The agency is committed to welcoming an inclusive workforce that reflects the diversity of the nation it serves. To learn about career opportunities with the CIA, visit www.cia.gov/careers.
